Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 01 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Largely cloudy, although any early drizzle fading by the afternoon.

Today:
Cloudy start and mostly dry, although the odd spot of drizzle is possible at first. Any drizzle fading away into the afternoon, with some limited cloud breaks developing. Best of the brighter spells across the south. Coastal parts breezy. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Tonight:
Any clearer spells before midnight will be limited as further cloud thickens and spreads southwestward overnight. Most places staying dry, but the odd spot of drizzle cannot be ruled out. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Thursday:
Cloudy start, with perhaps the odd spot of drizzle, before cloud gradually breaks and thins. Some brighter intervals, and the odd sunny spell then developing. Northern coasts likely staying cloudy. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Another cloudy start Friday, but brighter spells later. Little change Saturday, although winds strengthening through the day. Dry windy morning Sunday, perhaps the odd shower later. Rather cool throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.